NEW TAKE

* Usually . . . *

self-control is all about helping dogs to resist temptation - and that's a good thing for them to be able to do.

* But . . . *

their prey drive is an important part of who they are and they do need outlets for it. Outlets are easier to provide when dogs can have some self-control.

* So . . . *

Training a release or go cue is a great thing to do with a high prey drive dog as it not only helps with self-control, but it can also build into letting dogs know when they can access outlets.

YOU'LL

NEED

- ✓ Somewhere to train
- ✓ A small jar or pot that you can easily cover with your hand
- ✓ A supply of food that your dog enjoys.
